2020 Nomination and Election Information Bulletin No. 1 General Teamsters, Local Union No. 362

March 26, 2020

Subject: Questions about scheduled Nomination meetings.

Questions have arisen about holding a Nomination Meeting as part of the Election process during the current public health crisis. The following is the answer and clarification.

One concern expressed is the nomination meetings may be contrary to the public health directive. The two Local 362 nomination meetings scheduled will be held in full compliance with the public health directives and requirements in place at that time. Local 362 members are not limited to attending the meetings in person for them to participate in the nomination process, there is an alternative method to participate and to nominate.

The ability to nominate, second or accept nominations may be done through the government mail or using a courier. This is all identified within the recent Notice of Nomination letter distributed in the mail to every Local 362 member.

Those members choosing to attend the meeting will be governed by the public health directives at the time. The meeting will be conducted by two Officers, myself and Joint Council President R. Powers. We will practice the current Alberta Risk Mitigation Strategies. If necessary, we will limit attendance into the building to provide for a verbal nomination, second or acceptance of nomination. That may include us limiting attendance to only a few members at a time, it really depends on the public health directives and Risk Mitigation Strategies in place on those dates.

The meetings rooms are large enough to conduct the nomination process with appropriate protections in place.

Sincerely and in Solidarity,
